Demolition work sparks blaze

Rich-Wood Kitchens.

Morning fire at abandoned factory keeps firefighters busy

angela.mullins@metronews.ca

Thick smoke hung in the area around the old McCormick's candy plant for much of Tuesday as firefighters battled a blaze at a nearby building.

Trucks were called to 475 McCormick Blvd. — formerly the Rich-Wood Kitchens plant — at about 9:30 a.m. They stayed for five hours, with firefighters working in shifts to douse hot spots, spraying water on the building's east and west sides in between breaks to refill air tanks while cooling off.

The fire was started by wayward sparks from a cutting torch being used by demolition crews to break down steel beams, deputy fire chief Brian George said.

"Apparently, some of the sparks went into a lower level and caught a large pile of com-bustibles on fire," George said.

The workers evacuated and called the fire department. No one was injured and asbestos had already been removed.

Since the building is being demolished and there were structural concerns, firefighters took a "defensive" approach to the blaze, George said. Crews weren't sent inside, but focused on preventing the fire from spreading.

Smoke, visible several blocks to the east, forced the evacuation of businesses along McCormick Boulevard. A wider evacuation was considered, but police deemed it unnecessary.

"They felt because the smoke was so light once it passed into the neighbourhood off McCormick Boulevard that it was not a concern at that time," George said.

London firefighters strap on replenished air tanks on Tuesday before heading back into thick smoke surrounding the former Rich-Wood Kitchens factory at 475 McCormick Blvd. The building caught fire while crews were cutting steel beams with a torch, officials said. ANGELA MULLINS/METRO

Mechanics pull cat from Mercedes car after trip along highway

Want to adopt her?

When two women pulled into Rob Clarke's auto repair shop complaining of meows coming from their engine, the mechanic wasn't too fussed.

"We get people from time to time with the belts screeching.... They'll say 'I've got a pterodactyl under there,'" Clarke said with a chuckle. "I figured it was something like that."

He was wrong. Instead of a routine mechanical problem, Clarke too was greeted with a "meow" when he popped open the Mercedes-Benz's hood.

It was indeed a kitten — lodged toward the back of the engine near the car's firewall. Clarke caught a brief glimpse of the black-and-white cat before she darted deeper into the car's undercarriage.

"We jacked (the car) up and could still hear (the meows)," Clarke said about the scene that played out June 26 in the lot of his Komoka business. "We sprayed water up in it thinking that would bring it out."

When that didn't work, Clarke and his team rolled the car to a lift, disassembling parts of the vehicle for a better look.

Eventually, they spotted the kitten near the transmission and cleared her from harm's way after she made her way back to the engine. A member of shop's staff loaded the kitten — aptly named Mercedes and no more than nine weeks old — into a cardboard box and took her to a nearby pet shop.

Clarke, meanwhile, wrote off the woman's bill.

"But I did tell (the owner), 'If you bring back a second cat, we're going to have to charge you,'" he joked.

Mercedes is now staying in a local foster home where, aside from singed whiskers over her eyes, everything's looking up.

"She was obviously extremely scared and frightened in the beginning," said Marney Warder, who oversees cat adoptions for Animalert.

Now, she's eating well and beginning to socialize with other kittens, Warder said.

No one's really sure how long Mercedes was under the car's hood — or how far she travelled. But, people involved in the rescue effort said the ride included at least a brief stint at high speeds on Highway 402.

One thing's for sure, Warder said — "This little mite was very lucky."

Dangerous roads over the weekend

While OPP reported a wild Canada Day weekend on roads and waterways across the province, things were relatively quiet in the city, Const. Amanda Van Doren said Tuesday. No deaths were reported, but a Monday morning crash sent one person to the hospital and left a 20-year-old charged with multiple offences, Van Doren said. As well, two people are facing stunt-driving charges in the London area, the OPP said. METRO

Hot enough for ya? Just wait

Not your average summer

"It's looking like the over-arching theme for the rest of the summer is hotter-than-average temperatures."

Meteorologist Geoff Coulson

are projected to hit highs between 26 and 33 C. Thursday and Friday are supposed to be the warmest days of the week.

A particularly warm spring paved the way for July's hot start, Coulson said.

"After these multi-day (thunderstorms), humidity tends to come back with a vengeance," Coulson said.

Though the weather expert said it's difficult to forecast how dry or wet the region will be from now until the end of summer, there are indications we may be in for some extra-sticky days.

Temperature-wise, heading into the dead of summer, there is reason to believe there will be a handful of record-breaking days on the horizon.

Wildfires, heat waves, drought – weird weather or something more?

Variables. Climate scientists suggest that if you want to see examples of global warming, just look at recent U.S. weather Horrendous wildfires. Oppressive heat waves. Devastating droughts. Flooding from giant deluges. And a powerful freak wind storm called a derecho.

All seen recently in the U.S., these are the kinds of extremes climate scientists have predicted will come with climate change, although it's far too early to say that is the cause. Nor will they say global warming is the reason 3,215 daily high temperature records were set in the month of June.

Scientifically linking individual weather events to climate change takes intensive study, complicated mathematics, computer models and lots of time. Sometimes it isn't caused by global warming.

Weather is always variable; freak things happen.

But since at least 1988, climate scientists have warned that climate change would bring, in general, more heat waves, droughts, sudden downpours, widespread wildfires and worsening storms. In the United States, those extremes are happening now.

So far this year, more than 2.1 million acres have burned in wildfires, more than 113 million people in the U.S. were in areas under extreme heat advisories last Friday, two-thirds of the country is experiencing drought and, earlier in June, deluges flooded Minnesota and Florida.

"This is what global warming looks like at the regional or personal level," said Jonathan Overpeck, professor of geosciences and atmospheric sciences at the University of Arizona. "The extra heat increases the odds of worse heat waves, droughts, storms and wildfire. This is certainly what I and many other climate scientists have been warning about." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sarkozy. Home searched over alleged illegal donations by cosmetics heiress

French investigators searched the home and office of former president Nicolas Sarkozy on Tuesday as part of a probe into suspected illegal financing of his 2007 presidential campaign by the L'Oréal cosmetics heiress, an official said.

Potential legal troubles have threatened Sarkozy since he lost the presidency to Socialist François Hollande in May elections. Sarkozy, who lost his immunity from prosecution on June 15, denies wrongdoing.

Judge Jean-Michel Gentil and other investigators from the Paris financial crimes unit conducted the search of Sarkozy's home and office, the official said, speaking on condition of anonymity because he was not authorized to be publicly named discussing an ongoing investigation.

Messages left with Sarkozy's staff were not immediately returned.

A long-running family feud over her fortune ballooned in 2010 into a multilayered investigation and political affair. Allegations emerged that Bettencourt provided illegal campaign cash to Sarkozy's party during the 2007 campaign. Sarkozy vigorously denies the claims. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rescued aid worker. Big feet saved the day: Mom

Big feet and a fortuitously placed wallet helped save the day for a Canadian aid worker snatched at gunpoint at a Kenyan refugee camp and marched with three other captors across the border into Somalia, his parents said Tuesday.

Clearly relieved after days of frantic worry, Carol-Ann and Peter Dennis were able to share some of the humour that helped sustain their son, Steve Dennis, during his ordeal.

"He's tall, so he's got big feet," Carol-Ann told The Canadian Press. "The trackers could track them because they could see the big foot and some little feet in the pattern of walking."

Dennis, 37, of Toronto, and fellow Canadian Qurat-Ul-Ain Sadazai, 38, of Gatineau, Que., were among four aid workers snatched at gunpoint on Friday from the huge Dadaab refugee camp in Kenya near the Somalia border.

Also kidnapped and rescued with them were Astrid Sehl, 33, of Norway, and Glenn Costes, 40, a Filipino, who was shot during the initial kidnapping. Dennis was also grazed by a bullet.

"In Steve's case, it happened to hit him right in his wallet that he carries in his front (leg) pocket — it bruised him a little bit," his father said. "He said he was saved by his credit cards."

Barclays CEO, COO resign

Barclays chief executive Bob Diamond quit his job Tuesday in a financial markets scandal that has also seen the chairman announce his intention to resign and has sown the seeds for another investigation into Britain's banking sector.

Lending. BMO predicts interest rate will stay low

The Bank of Montreal predicted Tuesday that the Bank of Canada will keep its key interest rate low for longer than it expected.

Economists at the bank are now predicting that the central bank will not raise its key rate until July 2013, six months later than their earlier prediction of January 2013.

The rate affects the prime lending rates at banks and in turn influences all kinds of interest rates including those charged to variable rate mortgages and lines of credit.

But BMO mortgage expert Laura Parsons urged prospective home buyers to choose fixed-rate mortgages, which are also near record lows.

"While interest rates have been at historic lows, the inevitable climb will happen," said Parsons. "Choosing a fixed mortgage can provide protection against rising rates." THE CANADIAN PRESS

JUST SAYIN'
Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca/justsaying

I'm always looking for a new experience, so I've decided to sign up for triathlon: swim, cycle, run; one immediately after another.

A lot of people are fierce and brave, and they like to tackle the Ironman triathlon, which consists of a 3.96-kilometre swim, a 180.25-km bike ride and a 42.2-km marathon, without any rest or dying in between.

I am not an iron man. More like a straw man, so I thought I'd start with a "sprint triathlon," which sounds very zippy, doesn't it? A sprint is to the Ironman what a Yaris is to an F-350 pickup: 700-metre swim, 20-km bike ride, 5-km run. There's less chance of sinking like a stone at about 2.57 km into the swim or falling off your bike into a ditch at 127 km, or wandering into traffic, dehydrated and disoriented, around 37 km in the marathon.

Still, this "sprint," which occurs on July 22 (why are my palms sweating already?) has its challenges, not the least being I've never done all three of these things in a row on the same day, and rarely in the same month.

The main challenge, as far as I can tell, is getting through the transition, which means getting from the pool and onto the bike, then off the bike and into running shoes, all while the clock is ticking. The "three Ts" are key to transition: towels, talcum powder and tugging, not necessarily in that order. It's also important not to get confused and cycle in your swim goggles or run in your bike helmet, all of which apparently happen. How would I know? I've never even watched a triathlon.

Which might lead you to ask why am I doing this? Well, it was either this or one of those river cruises along the Seine. Both of them involve going someplace exotic, like Paris or the pool at UBC. But the river cruise costs $7,000; registering for the triathlon? $68.

No contest.

Two weeks after the Point Grey Sprint Triathlon, on Aug. 7, is a similar event called the London Olympic Triathlon. While I'm just starting out, the great Canadian gold medalist (2000 Sydney Games) Simon Whitfield is in the twilight of his career and will be competing in one last Olympics before he retires, a geezer at 37.

Even though I can spot Simon a couple of years, once again, there are some similarities. Expectations are the key. On Aug. 7, the whole nation will be holding its breath hoping that Simon is able to win gold one last time. On July 22, my wife will be holding her breath hoping that I at least make it out of the pool.

OK. So what did you want for $68?

He's no Paul Sullivan, but Simon Whitfield, right, will still compete at the Olympics one last time. RICHARD LAUTENS/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Hollywood has long been a fan of movie reboots. Spider-Man is the latest flick to get a an actor makeover

IN FOCUS

Richard Crouse

scene@metronews.ca

The adage, "The only constant is change," is only partially true in Hollywood. The list of recent movie reboots is as long as Lindsay Lohan's arrest record, and there's more on the way — we'll soon see new versions of Death Wish, Fletch and Highlander — but while the titles stay the same, the faces change.

This weekend, Peter Parker swings back into theatres, but instead of Tobey Maguire behind the familiar red-and-black-webbed mask it's Social Network star Andrew Garfield.

Not everyone is happy about the change. 1234zoomer commented on the new movie: "IS NOT GOING TO BE THE SAME WITHOUT TOBY!!!," (her uppercase and spelling, not mine), but Maguire has been gracious, saying, "I am excited to see the next chapter unfold in this incredible story."

Whether the new Spidey acknowledges Maguire is yet to be seen, but at least one replacement had the manners to recognize their precursor on screen.

George Lazenby paid a tongue-in-cheek tribute to Sean Connery in On Her Majesty's Secret Service. After a wild battle to rescue Contessa Teresa (played by Diana Rigg) the new James Bond didn't get the girl. "This never happened to the other fellow," he says, looking dejectedly into the camera.

Former Bond Connery went on to co-star in The Hunt for Red October with Alec Baldwin playing Jack Ryan, a character later played by Harrison Ford and Ben Affleck.

It's rumoured that Chris Pine (who took over the part of Captain Kirk in Star Trek from William Shatner) will soon replace the role.

The Batman franchise has also had a revolving cast. Since 1943 seven actors have played the Caped Crusader, including Lewis G. Wilson, who at 23 remains the youngest actor to play the character, and George Clooney who admits he was "really bad" in Batman & Robin. It's not only the Caped Crusader who changes from time to time. Harvey Dent, the handsome district attorney who turns into villain Two Face has been played by Billy Dee Williams, Tommy Lee Jones and Aaron Eckhart and The Dark Knight's Maggie Gyllenhaal took over the role of Rachel Dawes from Batman Begins star Katie Holmes.

Finally, Jodie Foster's take on FBI agent Clarice Starling in Silence of the Lambs was ranked the sixth greatest protagonist in film history on AFI's 100 Years... 100 Heroes and Villains list, but when she declined to reprise the role in Hannibal, Julianne Moore stepped in.

The Social Network's Andrew Garfield stars in The Amazing Spider-Man opposite Emma Stone. CONTRIBUTED

Marketing deal

Pitbull to Alaska: I know you want me

Miami rapper Pitbull might soon be chilling out in Alaska. In a marketing deal, Walmart will send Pitbull, a.k.a Armando Christian Perez, to the store that gets the most "likes" on its Facebook page. Right now, the leading candidate is Kodiak, Alaska. And there may be a reason. A writer for The Boston Phoenix newspaper thought it'd be funny to send Pitbull to the most remote Walmart possible, and is encouraging people to "like" the Walmart in Kodiak. It seems to be working.

The Kodiak Walmart had more than 35,000 "likes" Monday, more than five times the town's population. Kodiak has a significant lead in the contest to land Pitbull, but actual numbers weren't immediately available, Walmart spokeswoman Sarah Spencer said. She says other Walmart shoppers have until July 16 to like their local stores and pull ahead of Kodiak. "I know Pitbull is hoping his Miami Walmart shoppers start liking their Facebook page," she said. That would require some heavy lifting, with one Miami location sitting tight with 45 "likes" Monday. "He's definitely coming to Kodiak if Kodiak wins," she said. It would be the rapper's first visit to Alaska.

Speaking of which, she's still working. Yesterday, she filmed an episode of the TV series Project Runway, according to People.com—without her wedding ring on.

When many people think of Jennifer Hudson's singing style, they think of a thunderous, room-shaking tone. But now, with her new Pampers-inspired adaptation of the classic Lullaby and Goodnight, the multi-talented performer shows a gentler, sweeter side. We caught up with Hudson last week to discuss her new lullaby recording and how she balances being a mom and a superstar.

And then you have family there, which is what keeps something normal, at least for him. I wanted him to have as much of a normal childhood as possible, and I felt like that was the best way to do that — by going back home. And although he is always in my world and watching mommy work, and seeing daddy wrestling — that's different, that will always make him grow up different — if he still has that base, that foundation that we had growing up, then that, to us, is what's important.

Evil glares at the airport security line, jam-packed yesterdays that lead to too-tired-to-take-another-step todays, and kids offering TMI to the customs officials. It's no wonder parents get the shakes at the thought of a family vacation. Trust me, I know. My husband and I just spent more than 365 days with our two sons under the age of 10 on an around-the-world trip. Sure, there were moments when my sanity was questionable, but by the time we got home we were all a little wiser about how to make sure we made it through. My hard-learned lessons are your gain. These five tips will help replace your family's whines of "are we there yet?" with, "is it over already?"

Don't let stressful moments steal your memories

Where we learned it: Beijing, China. The mission was to meet our phenomenal guide at the Forbidden City. We should've been there by nine. At 10, we were still standing in pouring rain trying desperately to hail a cab. When we finally found one and agreed on the exorbitantly high overcharge, we had the ride of our life. Thrilled with his windfall the driver regaled us with broken English stories that we still giggle at today. We eventually saw and were amazed by the Forbidden City but nothing compared to the taxi ride over.

Pack less stuff

Where we learned it: The Mekong Delta in Vietnam. Nothing will make you glad you didn't pack six pairs of shoes and three party dresses for a weekend away as a $6 deal on a lug-your-own-suitcase boat trip. There isn't a place in the world that doesn't have a laundry washing system or a place you can buy something in an emergency.

5 ways to keep the fun in your family vacation

Ditch the routines you can

Where we learned it: Cairo, Egypt. At home the kids go to bed at 8, breakfast is at 7 and new friends are rare. On this trip? Bedtime was when they fell asleep, breakfast could include ice cream and every day there was the possibility of adding a new friend. We told the kids it was an adventure and they thrived. So much so that when, in Cairo, we found ourselves playing table tennis on a street corner at midnight and no one blinked an eye. It turns out kids aren't as desperate for routine as we think and sometimes the thrill of a broken routine is needed.

Travel in brief

Most Canucks plan to hit the road in summer

An online survey of more than 1,500 people across Canada finds 55 per cent plan to take a vacation this summer. The Leger Marketing poll, conducted last week and released Friday, found the average spending target for those who do plan to vacation in July or August was about $1,700. Respondents from Alberta had the highest vacation budget, averaging nearly $2,300 while Quebec residents had the lowest spending target, at just over $1,300.

Grilled Chicken and Creamy Curry Sauce turns up the heat

This recipe bathes boneless, skinless chicken thighs in a delicious curry marinade. The thighs then get tossed on the grill.

Meanwhile, a bit of the marinade (which was reserved before the chicken was added) is blended with low-fat sour cream for a rich condiment to be dolloped on the chicken after it comes off

Ingredients

- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 small onion, quartered
- 1/2 head garlic, cloves peeled
- 1-inch chunk fresh ginger
- 1-inch chunk fresh turmeric
- 2 sprigs fresh curry leaves
- 2-inch cinnamon stick
- 1/2 tsp cumin seeds
- 1/2 tsp black peppercorns
- 1/4 tsp ground coriander
- 1 tsp salt
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1 1/2 lbs boneless, skinless chicken thighs
- 1 cup low-fat sour cream

the grill. The result is a moist and richly flavoured chicken curry that is as comfortable solo on a paper plate at a barbecue as it is on a plate of rice indoors.

1. In a blender, combine the chicken broth, onion, garlic, ginger, turmeric, curry leaves, cinnamon stick, cumin seeds, peppercorns, coriander, salt, lemon juice and honey. Puree until very smooth. Transfer a third of the mixture to a small saucepan and set aside.

2. Pour the remaining mixture in a large zip-close plastic bag. Add the chicken thighs, then seal the bag and gently massage to ensure all of the meat is coated by the marinade. Refrigerate for at least 30 minutes, or up to overnight.

3. Meanwhile, set the saucepan of reserved marinade over medium heat. Bring to a simmer and cook until reduced and quite thick, about 10 minutes. Set aside to cool.

Grilled Chicken with Creamy Curry Sauce

4. When ready to cook, heat the grill to medium-high. Coat the grates with oil using an oil-soaked paper towel grasped with tongs.

5. Remove the chicken from the marinade. Discard the marinade. Place the chicken on the grill and cook for 6 to 7 minutes per side, or until the meat reaches 165 F.

6. While the chicken cooks, in a small bowl combine the reserved marinade and the sour cream. To serve, drizzle the sour cream mixture over the chicken.

Drink of the Week

Strawberry Sangria

- 1 bottle (750 ml) dry white wine (Chardonnay, Pinot Grigio)
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) orange liqueur
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) granulated sugar
- 750 ml (3 cups) quartered local strawberries
- 250 ml (1 cup) white cranberry juice
- 250 ml (1 cup) chilled lemon-flavoured sparkling water
- Mint sprigs, for garnish

In a large glass pitcher, combine wine, orange liqueur and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add strawberries and juice. Refrigerate until chilled. Just before serving, stir in sparkling water. Fill each glass with ice cubes; pour sangria over top. Garnish with mint sprigs. THE CANADIAN PRESS / FOODLAND ONTARIO

Southern Fried Chicken gets kick with spicy Creole sauce

1. In bowl, whisk in buttermilk, salt and curry powder until salt dissolves. Coat chicken in mix and cover for exactly 1 hour.

2. Whisk flour, baking powder, thyme, pepper, corn starch and garlic powder in a large bowl. Remove the chicken from buttermilk mix, coat with the flour mix and lay on wire rack that is set over a baking sheet.

3. Place oven rack in middle of oven and preheat to 200 F/93 C.

4. Pour 1 inch of oil into Dutch oven and heat to 375 F/190 C. Add half of chicken, skin side down. Cover and cook until deep golden brown on first side, 10 minutes.

5. Turn chicken over and continue to fry 7 mins. or until a deep golden brown. Uncover while maintaining an oil temperature of at least 315 F/160 C.

6. Transfer to paper towel lined plate; drain 5 mins. Place on wire rack over baking sheet in oven to keep warm.

7. Add additional oil as needed. Return oil to 375 F/190 C and complete remaining chicken.

8. Sauce: In skillet, roast Cajun spice, add red peppers and sauté 1 min. Deglaze pan with white wine and reduce to half. Add cream, reduce to half. Season with salt and pepper. Serve with chicken. NEWS CANADA

Spicy Rib Dinner. Unique sauce offers flavour burst

1. Combine soy sauce, citrus juice, zest, ginger and garlic in a blender and process to a smooth paste. Spread paste over both sides of ribs and marinate in a refrigerator, 7 hours.

2. Combine dry spices in a blender and grind to powder.

3. Remove ribs from marinade and blot dry with paper towels.

4. Preheat oven to 200 F/93 C. Rub spice mix on both sides of ribs. Place the ribs in a pan with the orange juice and braise for 6-8 hours.

5. Preheat grill to medium/high heat. Place ribs on grill and glaze with the roasted tomato ginger barbecue sauce.

6. Barbecue Sauce: Preheat oven to 350 F/149 C. Arrange tomatoes on a baking sheet and sprinkle with brown sugar. Roast tomatoes 1.5 hours. Put all ingredients in blender; process until smooth. NEWS CANADA

Mind your own business!

TalentEgg.ca

Being a post-secondary student certainly has demanded (and still does) a lot of my time, energy, and concentration. However, starting my own business while still in school has definitely been worth the extra time, energy and concentration that I have invested into starting my own company, BG Mountain Studio, in September 2010, and co-founding Sunny Bay Arts with my mom in January 2011.

I feel that by starting my own business, I will have a well-established business and a guaranteed job to work at after I finish my degree. Starting my own business has taught me many things along the way, which are all skills that I can use in any job that I may have in the future.

Where I am now

I am currently a full-time student in my last year of a Bachelor of Fine Arts program majoring in painting and drawing. In addition to being a full-time student, I work part-time for both Sunny Bay Arts, which I co-own, and for BG Mountain Studio, which I own.

My recommendations for employers

Career centres and schools should offer two or three-hour seminars every few months which would show students the steps to take to start and set up their own business. Inviting small business owners to present these seminars would be a great way for students to ask questions directly and learn from someone who has set up their own business.

Casting your net, making it work: Turn every meeting into magic

Social secrets. A step-by-step guide to turning a handshake into 'you're hired'

JELEEN YU
TalentEgg.ca

For most people, networking is pretty much a necessary evil. For Piotr Makuch, it's a little closer to crazy.

"The idea that people should go and network is insane," says the fourth-year Ryerson University student.

It's a radical thought for someone in his position, but not for the reasons you might think. As an online marketer and vice-president of external communication for Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE), Piotr regularly interacts with people, both in person and online.

Unlike most, though, he considers every moment and meeting — chance or planned — an opportunity to make a meaningful connection. He suggests looking at networking not as a work-related requirement, but as a way of life.

"We're actually always networking without knowing it," the sociology major explains. "We only call it 'networking' when someone with a job shows up; the rest of the time, it's just a conversation. But that shouldn't be the case, because every moment is a networking opportunity."

Here, Piotr shares his advice for job seekers looking to navigate the often-murky waters of the networking world, including his three-step method to getting the most out of every interaction, whether personal or professional.

Step 1: Plan

Goals are important. Even if you aren't sure of what you want, it's important to have a sense of direction to keep you focused. Planning will make any conversation easier because you'll have a sense of where you want the conversation to eventually end up.

Never underestimate the fundamentals. Networking is about connection and you can't do that until you're able to answer the question of who you are and what you're about in a direct and concise manner. Master and own your elevator pitch. If you don't know what you want, no one else will either.

Step 2: Interact

Networking is like dating. You want to get to know the other person in a short amount of time, so make sure to pose plenty of the right questions. Your needs will define the questions that you ask, and the conversation will be shaped by what you choose to talk about. Make sure to take away at least one unique point from every person you meet so you can start the conversation again outside the immediate context.

Feeling a little puzzled? Don't overcomplicate your conversations. Keep them light, yet focused. iSTOCK

During the conversation you should be reflecting everything back at the person to get to know them better. That way, you're never talking about one thing for too long, and the conversation will just flow naturally. Maintain a light — but focused — conversation.

The Hunters have lost their right-hand man to the nation's capital.

On Tuesday, the Ottawa 67's officially scooped up London Knights assistant general manager/coach Misha Donskov, announcing the 35-year-old has accepted an associate coaching position with the club.

"There's few teams in the Ontario Hockey League, frankly, that I would consider to," Donskov, a three-year employee of the Knights, told Metro. "Ottawa is clearly one of those teams."

Donskov, a Londoner and graduate of Western University's masters in kinesiology program, was instrumental in the Knights 2012 OHL title-winning season. Although he may not get the same fanfare as the Hunter brothers, what the former pro hockey player provides behind-the-scenes has always been much appreciated by the Knights brass.

"Ottawa's getting a good man," Dale Hunter said, adding Donskov is "great with the kids" and an asset

Another man down

Rob Ramage, hired by the Knights as an assistant coach midway through the 2011-12 season, is also departing from his post with the club.

possessing great character, knowledge of hockey, and organizational skills.

Already with the duel role as both assistant GM and coach, Donskov's workload was amplified when head coach Dale Hunter left town for a gig with the Washington Capitals in November 2011.

Almost five months to the day later, London came within one goal of winning its second Memorial Cup in franchise history.

"We're going to miss Misha. He had his hands in everything," Hunter added.

The promotion — which

- Ramage's exit comes as a personal decision to pursue a career outside of hockey, said head coach Dale Hunter.

will consist of a stronger focus on coaching as opposed to splitting time as a coach and manager — is something Donskov didn't see coming. He was approached by the 67's only recently and says he just couldn't pass on the opportunity.

Donskov said moving on will be difficult, especially since he'll also be leaving behind one of the OHL's most highly sought after secondary roles.

"We spent a lot of time together in the trenches, and I know that it's only going to serve me well down the road," Donskov said of the Hunters.

Now, about two months from training camp, only a trio of Hunters — Dale, Mark and Dale's son Dylan — remain as the Knights coaching staff. They will hire at least one replacement, Dale confirmed.

Azarenka sets sights on Serena

Second-ranked Victoria Azarenka set up a Wimbledon semifinal against Serena Williams by beating unseeded Tamira Paszek of Austria, 6-3, 7-6 (4), Tuesday, despite failing twice to serve out the match.

In a match that was moved from Court 1 to the roof-covered Centre Court because of rain delays, Azarenka was broken for the first time when leading 5-4 in the second set. She broke right back but then wasted a second opportunity to serve it out, before converting her second match point in the tie-breaker when Paszek sent a backhand long.

Two-bucket solution

Grit Guard is introducing its colour-coded Dual-Bucket Washing System to its cleaning products lineup. The black bucket contains only clean wash solution, so after dunking your wash mitt and washing for a bit, you then rinse the mitt in the red bucket. Dunk the mitt back into the black bucket for more washing solution, etc. Both buckets feature Grit Guard's removable inserts that keep the washed-off crud at the bottom of the bucket, reducing the possibility of paint scratches or swirl marks. The buckets sit in their own dollies with casters and have individual lids. A seat cushion included with the kit converts one bucket into a handy stool. The Dual-Bucket System sells for $130 US and is offered directly from gritguard.com.

Active Understeer

On the road, the Altima uses Active Understeer Control. During turning, light braking is applied to the inside wheel to counteract the natural tendency for the car to continue in straight line.

Also assisting is Nissan's Easy Fill Tire Alert that was initially installed in the Quest minivan.

Interior

The interior offers about the same passenger and trunk volume as before, but a concerted effort was undertaken to replace or recover hard-plastic surfaces with soft-touch materials. Another area of focus was noise reduction, achieved by adding more sound-absorbing materials around the car.

2013 Nissan Altima

- Type: Four-door, front-wheel-drive mid-size sedan.
- Engine (hp): 2.5-litre DOHC I4 (182); 3.5-litre DOHC V6 (270).
- Mileage: L/100 km (city/hwy) 7.4/5.0 (2.5).
- Base Price (incl. destination): $25,300.

Engine

The base 2.5-litre four-cylinder's output has notched up to 182 horsepower from the previous 175 due to a new valve train. An all-new continuously variable transmission offers fewer moving parts (reducing friction) and electronic-control improvements so that it more closely mimics a traditional multi-speed automatic.

Nissan has reduced the Altima's overall weight by about 33 kilograms.

Review. The Altima reset the bar for the family car back in 2002. Look what a decade has done

Wheelbase Media

First impressions are often lasting ones, and for new-car buyers they can also make the difference between closing the deal right then and there or searching elsewhere.

Where the 2013 Nissan Altima is concerned, most shoppers' reactions will be, "Whoa!"

The outgoing Altima that has been around since the 2007 model year was certainly no mutt, but the new car really shows that its best-before date has come and gone. The mid-size sedan presents a graceful face, with a grille and headlight pods that almost appear to melt into the stylish fenders. The windshield pillars have a bit more rake to them to help reduce aerodynamic drag.

At the opposite end, the knife-edge-style tail lights neatly encircle the fenders and the trunk lid's spoiler is integrated as part of the sheet metal. Viewed in profile, the Altima doesn't appear significantly changed, but the fancier chrome door handles and similarly coated trim pieces throughout attest to the car's more glamorous presence.

The base 2.5 model's pricing begins at $25,300 (including delivery to the dealer) and includes all the usual bells and whistles. From that point, S, SV and SL models pile on the content, but can add more than $9,000 to the base price with luxuries such as heated front seats leather interior, heated steering wheel and a power moonroof.

The Altima's impressively restyled sheet metal and interior appointments, matched with seriously improved fuel economy, serve notice that this Nissan has what it takes to melt into the stylish fenders. The windshield pillars have a

"Whoa," indeed.

If you recall, Nissan/Infiniti began offering "self-healing" exterior paint. More unusual technology follows as the company has "zero gravity" front seats for the Altima that reduce pressure on the spine and improve blood flow. Of course, NASA was the influence.

Remember when taillights were on the back of a car and the headlights were on the front? With the right curves and thoughtful integration of chrome, the Altima can finally be called a pretty car.

Volvo's new airbag designed for pedestrians

Driving Force. All cars focus on protecting the driver and passengers, but this feature takes safety to another level

drive@metronews.ca

In any collision between a vehicle and a pedestrian, the pedestrian always loses. While that will never change, Volvo is counting on its new pedestrian airbag to help reduce the severity of injuries when cars and people collide.

While other airbags are inside the vehicle, this new airbag is under the hood. When sensors in the front bumper detect that someone has been struck, the airbag deploys, lifting the rear of the hood slightly, and covering the area around the windshield wipers and pillars.

Raising the hood lifts it away from the engine, important because many pedestrians are injured when the hood buckles and they're slammed against the hard engine components below. The wiper and pillar areas are also hard and more likely to cause serious injury.

Coming in the future

- The pedestrian airbag is currently available on the all-new V40, a model that won't be sold in Canada, but will be rolled out to other Volvo vehicles in future.

"When the car is travelling between 20 and 50 km/h and it senses that it's impacting a pedestrian's leg, a number of things are actuated," says Thomas Broberg, senior technical advisor for safety at Volvo Cars.

"One of the joints at the rear end of the hood is released pyrotechnically, and then the airbag lifts the hood at the same time it's deploying over the wiper area. Then spring-loaded joints kick in to keep the hood in position. There are a lot of things that happen at the same time, and it's in milliseconds."

It was a challenge to develop the airbag, since temperatures in the engine compartment fluctuate considerably, and it must be protected from moisture.

"The sensors along the bumper recognize the impact of a human-like mass and form, compared to other objects that you might hit, like a grocery store cart," Broberg says.

"It doesn't go off if the car isn't moving, so if people are coming home from the pub and they start kicking cars, they can kick as long as they want, and it won't go off. And it won't go off if you're working under the hood, unless you're trying to repair your car when it's travelling at 50 km/h."

Some Volvo vehicles automatically brake when they sense a pedestrian walking out in front.

Broberg says that at lower speeds, the collision might be avoided entirely.

If the car is travelling above the airbag's 50 km/h threshold, the auto-braking might not be able to stop the car in time, but could potentially bring the speed down to the point that the airbag would deploy and help to reduce human injury.

Horoscope

Aries | March 21 - April 20.

You know what needs to be done and you know you have what it takes to make a good job of it — so what are you waiting for? Act now!

Taurus | April 21 - May 21.

You may be having second thoughts about a project you are involved with, but planets warn it'd be wrong to make changes at this stage.

Gemini | May 22 - June 20.

What people say and what they mean will be two different things today. Assume that nothing you hear can be taken for granted.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22.

You may find yourself at a loss to explain why certain things are happening but your senses tell you they are, so all you can really do is decide how to react. Doing something is better than doing nothing.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. Mercury in your sign will help you outsmart those who think you can be easily manipulated. They're wrong.

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22.

Chances are you will mislead yourself about something today — the kind of thing that 99 times out of 100 would not fool you at all.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22.

You know your way of looking at the world is best but you won't be able to convince loves ones and work colleagues of that today. They have as much right to be wrong as you.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.

You will hear something you do not agree with today but don't make an issue of it. Others can rant and rave, and make fools of themselves if they so wish, but you know it is better to be self-controlled.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec.

21. Today's cosmic activity will encourage you to focus on down-to-earth matters such as how to pay the bills and make ends meet.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan.

20. Do whatever it takes to avoid feelings of doom today. If you get stuck in a bad mood now, you may not be able to snap out of it until the weekend at the earliest.

Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb. 18.

Don't try to second guess partners and loved ones today because there is a danger you will get it wrong.

Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.

You may think you know what's going on at work, but do you? Mercury's link to Pluto warns you may have logic twisted, so try to stand back from the situation and see the wider picture. SALLY BROMPTON

How to play

Fill in the grid, so that every row, every column and every 3x3 box contains the digits 1-9. There is no math involved. You solve the puzzle with reasoning and logic.
